

Climate Change: Halving Carbon Dioxide Emissions By 2050 Could Stabilize Global Warming

ScienceDaily

May 4, 2009

If CO<sub>2</sub> emissions are halved by 2050 compared to 1990, global warming can be stabilised below two degrees. This is shown by two studies by a co-operation of German, Swiss and British researchers in the journal Nature.